Four Gossard Corsets of International Vogue

These four models express the perfection of modern Corsetry. The front-lacing principle (introduced by The H. W. Gossard Co.) has accomplished much for the convenience of woman's dress.

Of greater importance has been the genius displayed in the actual designing and making of Gossard Corsets.

A fitting in one of the models here shown will reveal the added beauty of your figure and an unrestricted comfort, such as you have never enjoyed.

Note carefully the descriptions and prices.

Model 364
This corset conforms perfectly to the latest style requirements. It is very low in bust, large in waist, and straight over hips and back, with long incised skirt. The woman who cannot invest in the finer qualities will find in this model the correct style features at a small cost. It is an exceptional value.

Woman and Her Varied Interests

Cut cold roast beef, lamb or steak in thin slices and season highly with salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Spread each piece on both sides with hot mashed potato (left-over mashed potato may be reheated), roll in flour, dip in egg and roll in bread crumbs. Fry in deep fat until a delicate brown.—Good Housekeeping.

Bean Relish.

Have ready a pint of cooked lima beans. Mix together with three or four tablespoonfuls of olive oil, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, one teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of paprika. Mix and toss the beans in it. Arrange on serving dish, outline with chopped pimiento, and decorate with parsley.—Newark News.

Baking Tins.

One can have a cooky-pan that will save gas by baking a goodly number of cookies at the same time. Go to a tinner and have him cut a sheet of tin to fit your oven and have him turn up the edges all around only one half an inch. These tins cost but little and one can have two sizes and they do save a lot of gas.—Los Angeles Express.

Fruit in Glass.

A housewife who was puzzled to know how she could put fruit in the refrigerator and not have it scent the butter and milk by the side of it, caught the idea of emptying out the basket into glass cans and putting on the tops.—Hartford Courant.

Ceiling Gloss.

When preparing the whitening for ceiling or pantries, add one pint of boiled milk, after you have put in as much water as you require, says the Tacoma Tribune. The milk gives the ceiling a beautiful gloss when dry and keeps the whitening from rubbing off.

To Whiten Ivory.

To whiten ivory rub it well with unsalted butter and place it in the sunshine, says the Racine Journal. If it is discolored it may be whitened by rubbing it with a paste composed of burned pumice stone and water and putting it in the sun under glass.

To Bake Cookies.

When baking cookies, turn pan upside down. Place the cookies on top and you will find the cookies will brown nicely on top with no danger of scorching on the bottom.—Los Angeles Express.

Novelties in Fall Veilings.

Many novelties are shown in veilings for fall wear, but one of the most striking is the "paradise" veil which is worn about a sailor hat. The design of this veil is usually of a floral character and has a ribbon insertion at the top and bottom. The upper ribbon is used as a drawing to draw the veil around the crown of the hat, and the lower one draws it close around the neck which admirably adapts it for yachting or motoring. Another way of wearing this veil is to use the ribbon insertion at the top only and the bottom is finished with an elaborate border.

The "window" veil is a modification of the "paradise" veil, and has an inset of finer lace which falls just over the face. This window, which sets just over the face, is sometimes of net set in a chintilly veil or it may be of fine shadow lace in a veil of chiffon, or the veil may be of heavy white mesh with a window of silk Shetland weave.

Still more extreme in style is the "harem" veil, which is made of two laces combined, usually chiffon with a heavy mesh, and is adjusted in either the Turkish or chin style. With the Turkish style of adjustment the heavy part of the lace hides the lower portion of the face, leaving the eyes exposed through the chiffon; but with the chin fashion the heavy lace is worn over the hat, leaving the lighter lace over the face, and the lower edge is finished with a dainty border reaching the chin.

Shetland veils secured a strong place in popular favor as soon as launched upon the market several years ago. It was said at that time that it was an American idea which Paris copied, but wherever it originated, it has been remarkably popular, and it is coming into favor again at the present time. Black leads, with white following, and the outlook is that many bright colored veils will be seen through the season.

Uses of Starch.

If a little starch is added to the rinsing water of all cotton goods, they will wash much more easily. The dirt comes out with the starch, and they will iron almost as readily as unstarched goods, if ironed before being allowed to become thoroughly dry, says the Modern Practical. Painted ceilings wash easier if gone over first with starch water. Brown cotton fabrics may be dipped in water containing a very slight amount of liquid blue, instead of white starch, which shows on the surface. To starch black saten, percale, etc. grate raw potatoes into the cold, second rinsing water.

44 CASES TYPHOID AT OREGON CITY

OREGON CITY, Aug. 29.—With 44 cases of typhoid fever reported to the city authorities, all but nine of which are in the city limits, there is a growing feeling of alarm in Oregon City as to this epidemic, and every effort is being made to locate the source of the trouble. Investigators from the state board of health have been in the city for the past week, but so far have not found anything upon which to report, though the city council, at a special meeting Wednesday, urged the investigators to hasten and demanded an early report.

Officers of the state board of health have closed one dairy in the city, and have stopped the sale of milk from its stock. When the place was closed three cases of typhoid were found among those employed there, and since then another employee has come down. Aside from this a number of city wells have been condemned as contaminated and unfit for drinking purposes. Beyond this little has been done.

PARASITES ARE KEPT COOL.

Insects Imported to Kill Black Scale Relieved by Fans.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 29.—Electric fans and ice cakes were pressed into service at the California Citrus Experiment station to save the lives of 100 Culex flies, "black scale" parasites recently imported from the West Indies.

The heat of the last few days has been killing the precious insects at an alarming rate and Superintendent Vosler conceived the idea of lowering the temperature in the room, where the flies were being allowed to breed. The success of the experiment was noticeable almost immediately, for the insects became active under the cooler air breeze forced into the room over ice.

The flies were sent to California by the imperial director of agriculture of the West Indian government.

Citizens Burn Building.

ALAMEDA, Cal., Aug. 29.—Unwilling to wait for the Alameda council to take action for the removal of the North Star club building, which gained an unsavory reputation following recent arrests of young men and a girl, angered citizens burned the place down. The fire department turned out to fight the blaze but it is said the efforts of the firemen were merely perfunctory and the building was totally destroyed.

Accused of Murder.

SYDNEY, Aug. 29.—Frank Haynes of San Francisco was arrested here charged with having caused the death of B. S. Atkinson, proprietor of the Minto Hotel, whose body was found on the road from Mira Ferry to Sydney, August 15. Haynes came here from San Francisco six weeks ago, claiming to be a mineralogist. He registered at the Minto Hotel but was later ordered to leave. The police assert that Atkinson's life was threatened by Haynes.

NOSE RINGS ARE QUITE STYLISH

Parisian Actress Starts Fad But May-be It Will Not Become Popular in America.

(By Margaret Mason, Written for the United Press.)

When you buy your fall clothes Get a ring for your nose, For in France it is well To thus ring the belle.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Dame fashion has gone to many lengths and now her latest is the length of a nose. Actually a Parisian actress has started the startling fad of wearing a gold ring-around-a-nose, you know, ring-around-a-nose, you know. Whether fair devotees of fashion on this side of the water will have a snout full is a question. Anyway there are other hints of the stock farm in the present day modes.

For instance the bride is omnipresent on all the chic little hats and head dresses now topping smart feminine coiffures. To be sure, as adapted to headgear for the fair sex, the name bride has been shortened to "bride," but by any name they will strap you as sweetly under her chin or chins. The "bride" of black velvet ribbon is the most commonly seen but those of pearls or jet are very quaint and lovely on Oriental turbans or Empire calottes.

It is no longer a case of pearls before swine but pearls before everything. Aside from the inevitable strand her slender throat and the "bride" of pearls on her chapeau, midday has shoulder straps of the iridescent globules to hold up the folds of chiffon—by courtesy called a bodice—on her sleeveless evening gown, a pearl fillet for her hair and pearls for her ears. A rope of pearls of pearls with pearls tassels add a stupping touch to a dusky black tulle frock flecked in white net. Also milady's cigarette case is thickly encrusted with pearls and she is even going in for pearls of thought.

There's a new veil come to town! It has a mesh of black threads crossing at three quarter inch space and just one lone dot the size of a current. You must drape this veil so that this lonesome dot is located on your left cheek about three fourths of an inch from the corner of your mouth. It lends such a piquant effect that the autumn girl should be encouraged to take the veil.

The hobble, after jumping from skirt to hat, has now jumped back again to the other extremity and the hobble shoe is at your feet. The heels are so abnormally high on the newest samples of footwear that they are quite thrown out of gear and the best form of amble that you can manage is verily a hobble if you would be chivalry shod.

Another new touch on a modern beauty's boot is a top of filmy lace to match the ubiquitous lace frock without which no wardrobe is fashionable. The old idea of a lace shoe being restricted to one lacing up the front, this new departure of a colweb top to a leather vamp shows that there are laces and laces.

Green still continues as a winner in the color field. Emerald is particularly alluring in crepes and liberty satins for evening and afternoon gowns while for tailor suits Bakel green, a peculiar shade named for the artist fashion creator, is all the rage. Browns are next in order of popularity and so rich are the many tones of tobacco, chocolate, café au lait, and "nigger" that you would choose wisely to be done brown this fall. In spite of the prophecy of the National Tailors that coats were all to be long or three quarters, abbreviated velvet boleros and Etons still cling to filmy clad shoulders and show also in the tailor suits of heavy materials. Fairy-like indeed are the latest importation of ephemeral blouses for coat suit wear and the frothy confections of ferred as neck fixings are things of beauty but hardly joys forever as they are as perishable as thistle-down—almost. Of sheerest net combined with handembroidered batiste or mousseline, baby Irish, Valenciennes and net applique they will transform your last year's suit or blouse into up-to-date creation, and Miss Cinderella with a limited wardrobe may blossom out in as many changes as a Princess of gowns galore. That is, of course, if Cinderella is a clever needle woman for these lovely neckthings are almost priceless in the shops and yet can be easily and inexpensively copied by amateurs at home.

One lovely mousseline vest, hand embroidered and edged with a frill of Valenciennes lace has an upstanding frill of the same around the back of the neck. A round collar of embroidered batiste daintily edged with a pilot pleating of net has revers of the same. One little vest of tucked net is trimmed down the front with tiny crocheted buttons between a double frill of narrow val and is outlined with a wide frill or net applique. It has a standing collar of applique. But their diversity is legion—there are collars round, square, flat, De Modici and no collars at all but just the frill.

Exquisitely hand embroidered, put-together with entredoux, these dainty accessories of the modern Eve's toilette, when bought at the shops are equally dear to the heart and pocket-book and midday is sure to get it in the neck and her bank account.

3500 Men Killed.

LAREDO, Tex., Aug. 29.—Thirty-five hundred men perished in the seven constitutionalist attacks on Torreon between July 17 and July 28, and since that time fever has become epidemic, food scarce and no aid has been able to reach the city, according to travelers from the vicinity of Torreon, who reached here. Not more than 25 Americans remain in the city and all are reported safe.

DEPOT SALOONS GO OUT AFTER AUG. 30

SALEM Ore., Aug. 29.—Saturday night will see the last of all saloons located in or near railway stations, for on Monday a bill passed by the legislature making it a criminal offense for a saloon to be conducted in this class of buildings, will become effective. It will mark another victory in Governor West's moral crusade in the state.

The fight to abolish saloons from railway depots was started by Governor West over a year ago, when an attempt was made to close the saloons in the Jefferson street depot in Portland by injunction proceedings. This attempt convinced the governor of the weakness of the law on the subject, and at his request there was introduced in the legislature a measure intended to put them immediately out of business.

The measure met with vigorous opposition in the legislature, the contention being that by making the measure effective at once it would tend to confiscate the business of the saloons coming within the purview of the bill. The governor finally agreed to compromise the matter by having the bill provide that it should become effective September 1 of this year.

According to the governor the measure will affect a large number of saloons throughout the state. Under its terms any person found guilty of operating a saloon either in a railroad depot or in a building covered by the same roof shall be fined from $100 to $500 or be imprisoned from two to six months in jail, or both.

Bryan Adds to Income.

NEW HOPE, Pa., Aug. 29.—Secretary W. J. Bryan delivered a chautauqua lecture here. He declined to discuss the Mexican situation. After the lecture the secretary motored to Trenton where he took a train for Washington.
